

MAY 28, 2020

Judaism Unbound Episode 224: A New Sinai - Dan and Lex

Dan and Lex, in a conversation released one-day-early – as prep for the festival of Shavuot – use that holiday as a jumping-off point into an exploration of how we might go about building new Judaism(s) in 2020 and beyond.

Click here to access jewishLIVE.org, the new digital hub for Jewish livestreaming programming!

Judaism Unbound | EP286

Episode 224: A New Sinai - Dan a...

00:00

48:47

1X

SHARE SUBSCRIBE

jewishLIVE.org/shavuot.

[2] Dan gives a new interpretation on the story of the Golden Calf, and how we could apply it to moments of Jewish transformation. For another take – from Amichai Lau-Lavie in his appearance on Judaism Unbound – see Episode 29: Lab/Shul - Amichai Lau-Lavie.

[3] To read the recent piece by Yehuda Kurtzer which Dan and Lex respond to with some critiques, click here.

[4] Check out the quote that Dan refers to, regarding “stepping up” in moments that lack leadership, here: Ethics of the Fathers \(Pirkei Avot\) - 2:5 (the last line).

PREVIOUS

Zac Kamenetz: Judaism Unbound Episode 225 - Jewish Psychedelics

NEXT

Becca Lubow: Judaism Unbound Bonus Episode - Whose Judaism?

— — — — —
the Jewish future with a donation
today
—