Afikomen!

Happy Passover! Holding seders via Zoom can be tough, but it can also serve as a chance to try brand-new Seder activities. Below is an activity you can do for the Afikoman hunt! Instructions for the activity are included at the bottom of the word-search. You'll

 Logistics instructions, for how to do this in zoom, can be accessed at the bottom of this page, or by clicking here! The word-search concept for this Afikoman-hunt was pioneered by Ruth Lebed, the Jewishly-unbound mother of our very own Lex Rofeberg.

Words to find (!): CHAROSET PLAGUES NILE SALTWATER SEAOFREEDS UNLEAVENED WISE WICKED SIMPLE HOWDOIASK

Find all ten words in the word-search above. Next, note the FOURTEEN (14) GREEN LETTERS contained within the words you found (and ONLY those green letters). Unscramble them to make a 3-word phrase that plays a key role in the Passover story. It will fit in the blanks below.

Once you have determined the phrase, type in the following url to your browser, in order to find the digital afikoman: bit.ly/threewordphrase (you will sub out "three word phrase" for the phrase you unscrambled above). There are no spaces in the url - type all three words of the phrase in a row after bit.ly/ in order to find your afikoman. An example (this is not correct) would be bit.ly/thetenplagues.

LOGISTICS: You have two options for how to do this activity at your Zoom seder!

1. Ask all your seder participants to print the word-search. An easily-printable version can be accessed by clicking here! All participants individually, or families together,

2. Separate your seder into Zoom breakout rooms (each breakout room will be a team). One person in each breakout room should share their screen. Using Zoom's "annotate" function (make sure this is enabled for all participants), teams can together highlight the words in the word search, and then work together to unscramble the relevant letters.
